DINING OUT AT HOME

A man with a beard, wearing a striped short-sleeved shirt and dark trousers, is smiling while grilling food on a rooftop patio. He is holding a plate of food and a pepper grinder. The patio is covered by a striped awning, and a clothesline with laundry is visible in the background. The scene is set during sunset or sunrise, with warm lighting. A red banner with the text "SHOP LCBO.COM" is in the top right corner.

SHOP LCBO.COM

Warm weather, fresh breezes, eating alfresco, the smell of barbecuing filling the air; whether you're at a cottage, in your backyard or lounging on your rooftop patio, there's an undeniable sense of rightness to summer dining. And part of that allure is unquestionably enjoying the best of some of life's simple luxuries. No matter if you're entertaining a small group (assuming restrictions are lifted) or just relaxing en famille, Vintages has a wine to match the occasion.

BIG & BOLD

Barbecuing is a beloved feature of relaxed, easy summer mid-week dining and weekend entertaining. Broad-shouldered wines like mighty Mendoza Malbec, concentrated Cali Cab, and stalwart South Australian Shiraz cry out for sizzling steaks, saucy ribs, gourmet burgers, spicy grilled sausages, grilled veggies and more. These are wines with the depth, balance and confidence to face the heat!

FRESH FINESSE

As great as steak or a grilled sausage on a bun might be, sometimes you want something a little lighter. We're not saying you should eschew a meat-heavy summer menu, just gently suggesting that you branch out. How about a bright, flavourful rosé from Provence for that salmon wrapped in foil with summer veggies that's waiting on the grill? Or a crisp, savoury Sauvignon Blanc to sip with that avocado salad? Go for it! Meatless options, no-cook salads loaded with fresh locally sourced ingredients, fresh-fruit platters – Vintages has a wine for them all. The summer sky's the limit.

GRECO BIANCO

Greco Bianco hails from the mountainous, rugged, rural Calabria: the toe of Italy. Aromatic and evocative, Greco Bianco can create wines that are dry or sweet. It's important to note that such is the historical popularity of the name "Greco" that it has become attached to several white grapes in Italy. Greco Bianco stands as a distinctive Calabrian expression. Bright and zesty, it's great with grilled seafood.

STATTI GRECO BIANCO 2019

IGT Calabria

Though this wine will be crisp and refreshing, you can expect it to also possess a certain lush weight that will be quite attractive. Look for a wine that opens with notions of white flowers and quickly layers on pear, citrus and tropical notes, with herbal accents providing even more complexity. Pair it with a creamy chicken dish, or pasta in a creamy sauce.

CORTESE

Piedmont native Cortese is somewhat challenging to grow, and requires special care in the vineyard to keep the vine's vigorous nature from taking over, which can reduce the quality and intensity of the final wine. The light, aromatic Gavi wines Cortese produces are floral, tangy and fruity with a pure minerality. Their lifted character makes them refreshing sippers, but these elegant wines are versatile food wines with a particular affinity for summertime alfresco dining with dishes like fish, chicken burgers or green salads.

FONTANAFREDDA GAVI DI GAVI 2018

DOCG, Piedmont

TASTING NOTE: Heady aromas of yellow wildflower, spring blossom and yellow stone fruit almost leap out of the glass. Tangy and savory, the round palate shows flavors of tart apple, lemon zest and honeydew alongside fresh acidity. Score: 90 (Kerin O'Keefe, Wine Enthusiast, Aug. 1, 2019)

ARNEIS

Arneis, the "little rascal," was so named because it's such a challenging grape to grow. It hails from Piedmont and is typically used to soften the aggressive tannins of Nebbiolo wines. Increasingly, Arneis has enjoyed success as a single-varietal wine, the best of which come from its home, Roero. Arneis is typically unoaked, crisp and floral, but some producers use oak to craft creamy, fuller-textured wines. The lighter styles are great as sippers or with seafood appetizers, while the fuller styles pair with pork, veal or chicken.

FONTANAFREDDA PRADALUPO ROERO ARNEIS 2018

DOCG, Piedmont

TASTING NOTE: Bright citrus, apples and loquat with herbal undertones. Lovely acidity creates an impression of linearity and adds definition to the otherwise round and succulent stone fruit. Drink now. Score: 91 (James Suckling, jamesuckling.com, Nov. 7, 2019)

FALANGHINA

Falanghina, which is believed to have originated in Greece but now flourishes in Campania, is a blend of two different but almost identical varieties: Falanghina Beneventana and Falanghina Flegrea. It's now almost exclusively thought of in terms of the hilly, mountainous, volcanic soils of Campania, where it has risen to be considered the area's signature white grape. Unoaked and fragrant, with orange blossom, apple, spice and mineral, this zesty wine makes a great sipper and is perfect with a range of dishes such as baked tomatoes, or fresh squid with lemon.

LA FORTEZZA TABURNO FALANGHINA DEL SANNIO 2018

DOC, Campania
(Enzo Rillo)

TASTING NOTE: Floral and aromatic, with excellent acidity and brightly arrayed citrus, pear and lime. A vibrant, refreshing wine with a long, satisfying finish. Perfect for grilled chicken or pork. (Vintages panel, June 2019)

VERNACCIA DI SAN GIMIGNANO

Vernaccia di San Gimignano was awarded DOCG status in 1993 and is Tuscany's only DOCG white wine, but its fame reaches back to the 1200s. It's mentioned in Dante's Divine Comedy, where it was famously connected with Bolsena eels. The soils in which it's grown are rich in fossilized sea life, and this imparts a refined, distinct, flinty minerality to the wines. Floral, bright and crisp with a bitter herbal accent, Vernaccia di San Gimignano is simply brilliant with seafood dishes or Portobello mushroom burgers.

POGGIO ALLORO VERNACCIA DI SAN GIMIGNANO 2018

DOCG, Tuscany

TASTING NOTE: This is a crisp, mineral-driven wine. There's a lush quality to the stone fruit and citrus notes and an overall uplifting character. Nice zest, balance and length. Very pleasant indeed. A lovely wine for a veal sandwich, or just to sip. (Vintages panel, July 2019)

GARGANEGA

You may not recognize this Veneto grape, but 10-1 you know it. This is because though it's the principal grape in the blend for Soave (one of Italy's most popular and renowned white wines), Garganega rarely appears on the label. Soave is a lifted, floral wine with white and yellow fruit and garden herbs and can develop suggestions of chamomile and honey with age. It's a refined option, especially alongside seafood or an avocado-tuna salad.

TESSARI BARCO ORGANIC SOAVE CLASSICO 2018

DOC, Veneto

TASTING NOTE: This hits all the notes for summer sipping and snacking. Juicy, fresh and mouth-watering, with tangy peach, pear, apricot and a fine mineral undertone. It will be ideal for light appetizers or something like a seared-shrimp-and-strawberry salad. (Vintages panel, Sept. 2019)

VERMENTINO

Vermentino is most associated with three regions: Liguria, Sardinia and Tuscany. The key feature that unites these areas is that they all grow Vermentino close to the sea. This maritime influence not only cools the grapes, ensuring freshness and vitality, it also imparts a precise saline minerality to the wines. Vermentinos from Liguria and Sardinia are quite structured and intense, while Tuscany's versions express a more fruit-driven, spicy character that's perfect for herbed grilled shrimp, or grilled pork sausages.

BANFI LA PETTEGOLA VERMENTINO 2019

IGT Toscana, Tuscany

You can expect this wine to be aromatic and floral on the nose, and a delight to taste. Look for a fresh, crisp wine, with well-defined peach, pear, yellow apple and lemon citrus tones framed by dried herbs and a great wet-stone minerality. It will be ideal with herbed chicken dishes or fish.

NIAGARA'S COOLEST

Four distinct wines express the diversity of Niagara's cool climate and showcase some of the star grapes that shine brightest in it.

Prevailing winds, proximity to the temperature-moderating influence of Lake Ontario, nuanced variations in aspect and slope, and careful site and grape selection are just a few of the factors at work making Niagara such an impressive cool-climate growing region. The results are generous, bracing, lean white and sparkling wines; refined, elegant, distinctive Pinot Noirs; and top-flight Icewines. Four local winemakers discuss their wines and key aspects of Niagara's cool growing conditions.

“Riesling is a winter-hardy grape with good cold resistance,” says Sébastien Jacquey, vice-president of winemaking and vineyards operations. “We make the Narcissist Riesling from grapes planted in 1996, from the Weis 21 Clone, which Megalomaniac owner John Howard imported from Germany. Our site at the top of the Escarpment has good air flow, and the site is warmed in the winter and cooled in the summer. But it’s still important to understand the challenges as well as the advantages of our macro-climate and make the right adjustments in the vineyard – do we need to leave the leaves to shelter the grapes or de-leaf to expose the fruit more? Niagara has more extremes than Europe; we have to stay on top of the grapes to be sure that we keep the balance in the wines.”

The grapes for the Château des Charmes Brut Sparkling are sourced from vines planted in 1995. “These mature vines give us great fruit,” says Amélie Boury, vice-president of winemaking and operations. “The site is protected by the Escarpment, which shields the grapes from the cold and makes the site just a little warmer with low humidity. This is good because it helps with disease pressure and is good for ripening.” These factors are important to Amélie and her team as they look for “pristine grapes. We hand-harvest and select carefully. We try for a 50-50 split between the Pinot and the Chardonnay, and though some years we have to have a little more of one or the other, conditions in our vineyard help us keep the wine consistent.”

The G. Marquis wines were created to honour Magnotta’s founder, Gabe Magnotta, who passed away in 2009. “He was an inspiration to me,” says winemaker Peter Rotar. “It was important to celebrate him. So this meant choosing one of the best vineyards to make the best wines.” The site selected was the former Stone Road Vineyard, now called G. Marquis. “It was planted in 1994 and is very good for Pinot Noir. We have to take what the vineyard gives us, and Pinot Noir is very sensitive, but the temperatures here are usually 2-3°C lower than in other sites. We ferment in stainless steel and then age the wine for six months in stainless and three months in oak. We do this because we want to keep the freshness and balance of the wine. It is quality first – this is to honour Gabe. I always tell people to look closely at the label; it tells the story of Gabe’s life.”

“The Vidal for our Icwine comes from the Four Mile Creek area,” Scott McGregor, winemaker at Lakeview Cellars, explains. “The moderating effect of the lake means that we can pick much later than other areas, which is good because the fruit has longer to develop on the vine, but it is also a risk.” Icwine requires consistent temperatures of -8°C before the grapes can be harvested, with -10 to -12°C being optimal. “In 2018, we harvested in late January into early February. We are lucky because we have the luxury to pass on opportunities for harvesting. It can be a bit of a gamble, as we go through periods of freeze and thaw, but one thing about Niagara-on-the-Lake, we can be certain that the cold will come, and the flavours we get are worth waiting for.”

G. MARQUIS THE SILVER LINE PINOT NOIR

VQA Niagara-on-the-Lake

"You should always know when you are drinking Pinot Noir. It is unique. I want there to be cherry and a little bit of earth in the Pinot. It's soft, smooth and round, with a little oak and a long finish. It's not for heavy meat; I would pair it with something like duck leg. That little bit of fat would be good."

*"Icewine should be a decadent and luscious flavour explosion, but it has to be balanced. The sweetness shouldn't overpower. This one has lychee, honey and tropical notes. ## SPARKLING WINE

CHÂTEAU DES CHARMES BLANC DE BLANCS SPARKLING 2015 🍷

Traditional method,

VQA Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario

TASTING NOTE: Not unlike the previous '14 with an almost almond-nougat creaminess, sweetness balanced by equal and opposing acidity, not to mention real richness. Winemaker Amélie Boury likes to pick later than many in Niagara and so that accumulation of style, chic and textural components really drive this chardonnay machine. That said you can never leave home too far behind and so place is the thing. Cool-climate sparkling wine that is, in Blanc de Blancs form. Drink 2019-2022. ### BENJAMIN BRIDGE NOVA 7 SPARKLING 2018 🍷

Nova Scotia

TASTING NOTE: It's a blend of Muscat varieties, Vidal, Seyval, and Geisenheim. This white is quite aromatic with a pure apricot fragrance with a hint of Double Bubble. The attack is gently fizzy with pronounced gala apple flavour – sweet and tart – nuanced with orange buttercream, elderflower, and wildflower honey too. Each sip tapers to Altulfo mango finish. This wine is sweet but well-balanced with bracing acidity so it quenches rather than cloy. And it's low in alcohol at 6.5 per cent, which makes it a great summer sipper. Lovely drop. # TOP-FLIGHT TEQUILAS

Explore our newest premium collection in the Tequila Shop.

Just in time for sunny summer days, we've released a special new lineup of this celebrated Mexican spirit. This exclusive, evolving collection includes dozens of finely crafted premium offerings from top producers in a range of styles. Whether your tastes run to Blanco, Reposado or Añejo tequilas, or to mezcal, the spirit's smokier cousin, you're sure to discover a new (or old!) favourite or two perfect for sipping solo or elevating summery cocktails. Be sure to check out the Early Summer edition of Food & Drink magazine for some great options! Here, we feature four of the newest additions to this refined collection.

These and other 100% agave tequilas and fine mezcals are available at select LCBO locations, or shop the full collection online at lcbos.com/tequilashop.

New in the Tequila Shop for summer

CASA NOBLE REPOSADO TEQUILA

This multi-award-winning Reposado is aged in new French white oak barrels for the maximum allowed time (364 days; many Reposados are aged less than half that long) and distilled three times. Smooth and full-bodied, it features flavours of sweet cooked agave and toasted oak.

14401 750 mL $79.95

HERRADURA SILVER TEQUILA

The Herradura distillery practices sustainability in all facets of its production and was the only tequila producer to receive the Environmental Excellence Award from Mexico's Federal Attorney for Environmental Protection in 2015. Their Silver tequila features flavours of sweet agave and subtle oak notes thanks to ageing in American white oak barrels for 45 days beyond the industry standard.

METEORO JOVEN MEZCAL

This handcrafted mezcal gets its subtle smoky flavour from agaves roasted for days in earthen pits by river stones that have been heated with mesquite wood. Twice distilled in copper pot stills, it features notes of wet wood and spices. Try it neat or in a margarita.

TIERRA NOBLE AÑEJO TEQUILA

Made in a family-run distillery in the mountains of Jalisco (the highest modern distillery in the world, in fact, at more than 2,000 metres above sea level), this superbly structured, silky Añejo is aged in American and French white oak for two to three years and shows off flavours of dried fruit and vanilla.

14671 750 mL $78.35

with the right stuff

Jean-François Reaud knew right away when he took over the estate created by his great-grandfather in 1904 that he was going to do right by its wines: Château Les Aubiers has been organically farmed since 2011. Reaud's passion for the Right Bank shines through in this balanced, generous, rich wine that's packed with black fruit. It'll be right at home at the dinner table or in the cellar.
