WAYNE GRETZKY WHISKY OAK AGED CHARDONNAY 2018

VQA Niagara Peninsula, Ontario
17234 (XD) 750 mL $18.95

TASTING NOTE: The 2018 Chardonnay was aged in whisky barrels, which gives this rich, full-bodied wine some toffee notes on the nose. This wine would be terrific with smoked chicken in a cream sauce, lobster in melting butter or a mushroom risotto. Score: 90 (Natalie MacLean, nataliemaclean.com, June 12, 2020)

Together for Ontario.

Support local wineries and you're supporting a host of sustainable and charitable initiatives, and the conviction that there's a bright future for our emerging and established wine regions. Enjoying passionate local producers' top-notch wines is the icing on the cake.

Perfect picnic pairings at Kew.

Few vocations demonstrate the interconnectedness of all things with the clarity of winemaking.

To explore wine is to cultivate an awareness of history, culture, geography, agriculture, meteorology, chemistry, biology, geology, economics, and much more. It's a thoroughly comprehensive discipline. As we move forward and the province gradually recovers from the impact of COVID-19, Ontario's wine industry will play an important role. Innovative, forward-thinking and responsible, our local wineries have always been central to the cultural, economic and environmental health of their communities. Here, we take a look at the sustainability and charitable initiatives undertaken by some of these local wineries and spotlight others whose leadership and/or forays into emerging regions speak to their innovative spirit and optimism. Support local wineries and winemakers and you're helping secure a bright future for Ontario – never mind the sheer pleasure you'll get from their world-class wines and suggested pairings with fine foods from their own favourite local purveyors.

Pair It Forward

To celebrate and support local businesses – and to help you discover some of their amazing foods – we asked our featured wineries to share their suggestions for pairings from some of their favourite purveyors. Get involved! Share your own ideas for great local pairings at #PairItForward.

The entry to Creekside's underground barrel cellar.

Proud Pour began in New York in 2014, working to raise funds to restore oysters to New York Harbour. They've since expanded to 21 states. Here in Ontario, they've just begun working with Creekside and their winemaker, Rob Power. Monies raised through the sale of the Pinot Noir will support wildflower habitats for bees and other pollinators, while proceeds from the sale of the Pinot Gris will assist with oyster-bed rejuvenation. Going forward, Proud Pour will be teaming up with Queenston Mile, where Rob is also the winemaker. As part of the initiative, they'll be adding a vegetable garden, a bee-friendly wildflower habitat, and beehives to the property.

Cave Spring Cellars

Jordan

When challenged to find a single word to describe the wines of Cave Spring, "authenticity" just might be the clear front-runner. Cave Spring's quality-focused approach has earned them considerable local and international praise, including being named to the 2018 Wine & Spirits Top 100 Wineries list. Sustainable winemaking practices and the application of organic farming techniques, such as the use of mixed grasses between vine rows in order to impede weed growth, prevent erosion and improve the soil's nutrient and water levels, are just some of the steps they take in their pursuit of the purest possible expressions of their wines.

Niagara-on-the-Lake

Wayne Gretzky Estates is full of #99 memorabilia.

Wayne Gretzky's reputation for charitable work is as impressive as his on-ice accomplishments. The Wayne Gretzky Foundation, founded in 2002, is now also supported by the Wayne Gretzky Estates Winery and Distillery; a portion of sales from each bottle of whisky or wine goes directly to Gretzky's eponymous foundation. As you enjoy a glass of the Wayne Gretzky Whisky Oak Aged Chardonnay 2018, mark yourself down for an assist. Kew Vineyards Estate Winery

Beamsville

The beautiful tasting room at Kew Vineyards.

Kew Vineyards was first planted in 1975 by the late Hermann Weis, whose family founded Germany's iconic St. Urbans-Hof. In the early 1970s, prevailing wisdom insisted that Niagara was not suited to vinifera (the grapes responsible for the finest wines of Europe). But Weis saw potential for greatness in the region, planting his Clone 21 Riesling in select sites and, in doing so, helping to usher in a new era of quality winemaking. Mr. Weis passed away on March 8, 2020, aged 85. History is fundamental at Kew. The Bordeaux blend Soldier's Grant honours Richard Kew, who was awarded the land where the vineyard now stands by the Canadian government after the War of 1812.

The pot still at Tawse. The winery produces several types of spirits in addition to their wines.

From their hands-on approach in the vineyard to the design of the winery building, every aspect of Tawse reflects a deep consideration for environmental concerns. Tawse uses chickens in the vineyard to help control insects, grazing sheep trim the vine leaves and when possible, horses are used instead of tractors. In the winery itself, gravity is used to gently move the wine from pressing to cellaring. The underground cellars maintain an ideal ambient temperature and humidity without the need for mechanical systems, and the winery's use of geothermal energy has reduced their reliance on other energy sources by 80%.

Thomas Bachelder is a Quebec native who studied winemaking in Burgundy and is now one of the most important winemakers in Ontario. Working mostly with Chardonnay and Pinot Noir, he's dedicated to the creation of single-vineyard interpretations of Niagara's terroir. Bachelder is seeking to accomplish for Niagara what has long been established in Old World wine regions: creating a precise understanding of each vineyard and, in so doing, define Niagara's "cru" sites. His "les Villages" wines are blends created from several of these single-vineyard locations.

Megalomaniac Winery

Vineland

The grandeur at Megalomaniac is no delusion.

Megalomaniac has grown to become one of the most popular producers of fine wines in Ontario. Despite its cheeky name, the winery had quite humble objectives when it opened. It was essentially a retirement project for owner John Howard and a way for him to support the Kids' Health Links Foundation. The KHLF helps chronically ill and hospitalized youth cope with their stress, isolation and loneliness while in medical care by providing them with the ability to connect with friends and family through technology. They've also developed technologies that enable child healthcare specialists to connect, learn and share advancements in treatment and care globally.

Rosewood Estates Winery

Beamsville

Rosewood is a certified member of Sustainable Winemaking Ontario, and the measures they take to protect and enhance the health of their vineyards also assure the well-being of their bees – essential partners in the production of mead. Strategies such as integrated pest management, eschewing chemical herbicides and fertilizers, hands-on canopy management, the use of wild yeasts, and minimal intervention in the winery allow Rosewood to create wines of provenance and distinction. Rosewood extends this natural and sustainable approach to their beekeeping practices. Providing their bees with ideal conditions ensures the health of the insects and therefore the quality of the honey they produce.

Daniel Speck understands that wineries don't operate in a vacuum. "All of the great wine made across Ontario has had a major impact on our communities and the culture of Ontario. We at HoP support important initiatives like Big Brothers and Big Sisters, but there are also many indirect benefits, such as the Cool Climate Oenology and Viticulture Institute at Brock University and the Niagara College Teaching Winery. Ontario is now a destination for people from around the world who want to make or learn about wine – and do it right here. Being sustainable and responsible winemakers has had a huge ripple effect and I'm proud of the role that we've played."

KIN Vineyards | Carp

KIN Vineyards was founded in 2014 in the Ottawa Valley and perfectly encapsulates the dynamic spirit of discovery and innovation that first brought serious winemaking to Ontario. Their vines are farmed using organic and biodynamic practices, and the limestone soils of their Carp Ridge site are producing wines of notable quality and promise. The extremes of winter cold and summer heat in the Ottawa Valley pose significant challenges that require adopting measures such as burying the vines to protect them through the winter. As their vines mature, internationally experienced winemaker Brian Hamilton is also crafting wines from Niagara-sourced fruit.

The Caledon Hills may seem an unlikely place to find a winery, but the conditions and soils here are ideal for cool-climate varietals. Chardonnay, Riesling, Gamay and Pinot Noir, as well as winter-hardy hybrids such as L'Acadie Blanc, all thrive here. With a focus on small-batch winemaking and a commitment to organic and biodynamic farming practices, Adamo has unquestionably proven the area's viability for fine terroir-driven wine. This young winery's vines are only three to five years old, very young in winemaking terms. So while their estate vines mature, Adamo's winemaker, Shauna White, supplements their portfolio with wines crafted from fruit sourced from prime Niagara sites.

Huff Estates Winery

Bloomfield

The covered patio at Huff Estates overlooks the vineyard.

It takes vision to bring an unknown region from obscurity to global repute in less than 20 years, but that's exactly what wineries such as Huff Estates have done. Launched in 2004, Lanny Huff's state-of-the-art facility was a declaration that Prince Edward County is serious wine country. Their pioneering spirit led Huff to produce the county's first traditional-method sparkling wine in 2008. The Huff Family Fund, established in 2017, supports local groups working in the areas of mental health and addictions, animal welfare, arts and culture, health services, housing, learning, transportation, and food security. In January 2020, the HFF provided grants to 25 projects.

Reif was established in 1982. Their connection to the local community is exemplified by the Taste for Hunger food drive, which the winery first ran in March of 2019. Winery visitors receive free tastings of three wines in exchange for donations of non-perishable food items. The event is run in partnership with the local food bank/thrift store Newark Neighbours and is timed to help them restock their shelves after the holidays. The inaugural event was a great success, and in 2020, 12 other wineries joined in. Though COVID-19 restrictions cut this year's event short, Reif intends to run the Taste for Hunger initiative again in 2021.

Colchester Ridge Estate Winery (CREW)

Harrow

The Lake Erie North Shore appellation provides ideal grape-growing conditions. Ample sunshine and heat assure wines with impressive ripeness and concentration, but the winters can be devastating, with the risk of reduced yields and even lost crops ever-present. Founded in 2001, with their first vintage in 2004, CREW has weathered it all. As their wines have evolved and the winery has moved from success to success, so too has the reputation of LENS itself. In November 2019, CREW added an art gallery and a two-storey tasting room and event space. The gallery celebrates artwork from owner Bernie Gorski's private collection as well as new works by accomplished local and international artists.

It's hard to imagine Prince Edward County without the wine, and yet the area has barely 20 years of viticultural history. Closson Chase planted their first vines in 1999 and their wines have helped define the region. Their Chardonnay and Pinot Noir exemplify the character and quality that have seen PEC draw serious comparisons to the benchmark of benchmarks: Burgundy. The excellence of Closson Chase wines is no secret to customers or to local press, and now with their 2017 Grand Cuvée Pinot Noir and Grand Cuvée Chardonnay having both earned 90 points from Wine Spectator, increased international renown is sure to follow.

TASTING NOTE: The Tawse distillery is rocking these days, churning out all manner of innovative spirits ... This Vermouth is unlike any I have tried ... sourced from certified organic estate Riesling that's steeped with 14 different botanicals and fortified to 18.5% abv. ... I tasted this straight up on ice with a big wedge of lime. It had a beautiful nose of citrus, herbs, sage, wild flowers and some exotic tropical fruit notes and, of course, lime. It was smooth and refreshing on the palate with notes of chamomile tea, pear, fresh herbs, citrus and a zesty, refreshing finish. A lovely afternoon cocktail. CREW RIESLING 2018
VQA Lake Erie North Shore
TASTING NOTE: A refreshing Ontario acidity sets the tone here, creating a bright, mouth-watering foundation for the apple and lime citrus notes and the fine, distinct minerality. Well-made and pleasant. The sweetness is on point and nicely balanced. A wine for spicy sushi or curries. (Vintages panel, Aug. 2019)

KIN VINEYARDS CIVIL GRIT CHARDONNAY 2019
VQA Ontario
TASTING NOTE: This Chardonnay was fermented in stainless steel and aged on the lees for nine months. Though it can age for a short time, it's meant to be enjoyed young. There's pear, apple, citrus and a dash of banana here, with lots of crushed-rock minerality. A wine for grilled salmon or grilled chicken. (Vintages panel, Aug. 2019)

PROUD POUR PINOT GRIS 2018* NEW
VQA Ontario
Expect this wine to be crafted in a zesty, crowd-pleasing style that highlights Niagara's bright fruit and minerality. Look for sharply defined tones of melon, pear, apple and snappy citrus, with a mouth-watering acidity. This will be a great sipper that would also pair well with seafood appetizers.

CLOSSON CHASE CLOSSON CHASE VINEYARD PINOT NOIR 2017*
VQA Prince Edward County

TASTING NOTE: Wildly expressive, this lightly cloudy pinot noir made with a light handed touch embodies Prince Edward County. A classic cut of pinot noir that is both generously flavoured and widely appealing in nature – a tricky outcome for a variety that can be too often austere. Drinking beautifully now, there is enough structure and depth to propel this complex find into the middle of the decade, but why wait? Score: 93 (Sara d'Amato, winealign.com, April 15, 2020)

PROUD POUR PINOT NOIR 2018*
NEW

VQA St. David's Bench, Niagara-on-the-Lake

The hot, dry 2018 vintage seemed poised to be quite worry-free (relatively speaking), but then came the rains and humidity of September, which made for a challenging harvest. Skill and decisive action in the vineyards made all the difference. Pinot Noir was one of the success stories of 2018, delivering wines with excellent ripeness, character and cool-climate expression.

MISSION HILL RESERVE MERLOT 2017
BC VQA Okanagan Valley

TASTING NOTE: From vineyards in the Black Sage Bench of the southern Okanagan, this was aged 15 months in French and American oak. It has lovely ripe blackberry fruit aromas so typical of merlot, with considerable oak, tobacco, resin and spice from the barrels. It is quite smooth, medium to full bodied with fine, firm tannin. Alcohol is a bit hot. The length is very good. This is textbook B.C. merlot well crafted, which is very much the purpose of Mission Hill's Reserves. AUSTRALIA – ROSÉ WINE

TEUSNER SALSA ROSÉ 2019

NEW

Barossa Valley, South Australia
This rosé is crafted from the renowned Barossa blend of Grenache, Mataro and Carignan. Expect a ripe, fruity wine with a refined acidity. It's aged in old oak barrels to impart some spice notes without overshadowing the fruit. A great option for your Thanksgiving feast, it will go well with salmon and, of course, turkey with all the trimmings.

Spring into fall

CAVE SPRING
CABERNET FRANC 2017

VQA Niagara Peninsula, Ontario

After the heady heat of summer, autumn is a breath of fresh air; a time of renewed energy and vigour. This rustically charming Cab Franc, with its evocative aromas of lively red cherry and raspberry and hints of tea and sweet herbs, is the perfect way to welcome fall.
